Title: History of Casandreal

Author: Cyrus Soulstone

There was a woman, who lived in a small village outside the city of Troy Long ago, who had a dream that foretold the fall of Troy. She tried to warn the people of Troy about the danger they were facing. The City refused to believe her but some of the details she knew were too sensitive to be available to anyone so they put her in prison. After the city
fell they realized
their mistake in what they had done and went to release her.
But, alas, when they opened the cell
she was already dead.
They immediatly
returned her to her village and gave her an funeral befitting royalty and a shrine was placed upon her gravesite. The town was soon after renamed by its people in honor of her memory. This womans
name was Casandra.
The Town - Casandreal the city of Compassion.
